DISA Contracts Guide

This year, the theme of DISA's Customer Partnership Conference is "The Next Engagement." DISA strives to be proactive in supporting our customers by establishing telecommunication and information technology contracts in advance of their needs. As you look through the following listing of contracts, you will notice that many contracts are performance-based, flexible, and easy-to-use. The staff of the Defense Information Technology Contract Organization can assist by issuing task/delivery orders for customers, or in some cases, customers' contracting officers can take advantage of "decentralized ordering," which allows the flexibility of ordering and administering their own task/delivery orders. Either way, customers receive the services they require quickly and efficiently, obtaining the best-value solution.
